Facilitator: Ed Gray

A). What's In Your House?

2 Kgs. 4:1-7; Lk. 17:20-23; Jer. 29:11)

What did the widow think she lacked?

What did she actually have?

Prior to this season, what did I believe I lacked?

According to God, what do I actually have?

How is my meditation and prayer life?

Am I consistently entering the secret place where God reveals what I carry?

Do I pause long enough in His presence for Him to bring things to my remembrance?

Have I overlooked what's familiar, dismissing it as "just a jar of oil"?

Have I created enough capacity in my life to receive what God wants to pour out?

What vessels, habits, relationships and disciplines have I made room for?

Have I limited the flow of God by limiting my expectations?

B). What Are My Talents?

(Matt. 25:14-30; Jn. 14:26)

What are my talents?

How can I invest my talents?

How does the kingdom of God benefit by my investing my talents?

How do I benefit?

What's going to happen if I don't invest my talents?

Prophetic Declarations:

I already have what I need.

I am anointed for success.

I will no longer bury what God gave me

Closing Statement

This morning's Bible study wasn't just a lesson and discussion; it was a divine invitation. God doesn't just want to speak to you. He wants to activate something within you.

Take time immediately after this session while the oil is still fresh to sit with these questions and study the scriptures again on your own.

This is where revelation becomes transformation. This is where activation begins. And this is how you move from inspiration to multiplication.

God has already placed something powerful in your house and in your H.E.A.R.T. (Higher Empowerment Abides Resourcefully Therein). Now it's your time to pour.
